Katkov-Lundeen
33rd Annual Visiting Professorship in Pediatric Cardiology and Cardiovascular Medicine

Featured 2014 speaker:
David J. Driscoll, MD
June 9-10, 2014
Featured speaker

David J. Driscoll, MD
Division of Pediatrics
Mayo Clinic

Dr. Driscoll has been a Professor at the Mayo Clinic, Division of Pediatrics since 1987, where he also served as the head of the division of Pediatric Cardiology from 1985-2004. His expertise spans many aspects and branches of pediatric cardiovascular medicine, including exercise testing, sudden death in children and Fontan physiology.

Dr. Driscoll has held many leadership positions in an array of professional organizations, including serving on the executive committee of the American Heart Association Council on Cardiovascular Disease in the Young, writing for and participating in three American College of Cardiology conferences, and acting as chair of the American Board of Pediatrics Subboard of Pediatric Cardiology. He has been an invited professor at 26 institutions throughout the United States and Canada.

In addition to his numerous honors and awards, Dr. Driscoll has written 84 book chapters, been the author on 222 manuscripts and has extensively published scientific papers in all pediatric and cardiology peer-reviewed journals.

Professorship objectives

- Distinguish the various types of vascular anomalies, distinguish between vascular tumors and vascular malformations, and will understand the evaluation and management of vascular malformations
- Understand the embryologic base of, surgical approach to and long-term outcome of operation for Ebstein anomaly
- Understand the causes, evaluation and management, and outcome of cardiac protein losing enteropathy
- Understand the bases of knowledge and will be able to distinguish knowledge from belief
- Recognize the effects of paradigm shifts on medical decision making, as well as common decision-making pitfalls
- Understand current concepts in cardiac transplantation in children

Location

Children’s Hospitals and Clinics of Minnesota
2525 Chicago Ave. South
Minneapolis, MN 55404
(Driving directions on back)